SUMMARY

I’m a data enthusiast who enjoys solving real-world problems using numbers and insights. With a solid background in tools like SQL, Python, and visualization platforms such as Tableau and Power BI, I help make sense of complex data and turn it into clear, useful information for decision-making. I’m good at spotting trends, building reports, and working with different teams to improve processes. Whether it's cleaning messy data or building predictive models, I bring a thoughtful, hands-on approach and a strong focus on results.
